

The Lang School is an alternative 1-12 school located in lower Manhattan. We are an independent school for high-ability, gifted, and twice exceptional “2e” learners – intellectually gifted students who have learning disabilities and often social and behavioral difficulties. Our learners present challenges requiring myriad strategies for reaching and connecting with them and for maximizing their opportunities for academic, social, and emotional growth and success.

Lang School teachers are innovative, self-motivated, flexible, and committed educators. Our faculty and therapeutic staff collaborate on all aspects of student education and development. Lang School educators have an ongoing interest in personal development, professional growth, and ensuring that our students excel.

We are looking for a 4th/5th Grade Co-Teacher
